Ornamental Shrubs

HARDY CAMELLIA (Sasanqua)

Fall and Early Winter Flowering.

Here we have a beautiful shrub which is rapidly taking its place in the garden. A Sasanqua plant in full bloom is breath-taking and particularly so because it flowers when there is little else to give color. To come upon a lovely graceful evergreen shrub covered with hundreds of blossoms in late September, October and November, is surely getting a thrill. The individual flowers are charming and varied in form and shape; some are single, some are semi-double or fully double. Formal as well as informal in shape, they provide one with endless interest and a wide range of color. The informality of the plant makes it a first class subject for foundation plantings and hedges. Received the award of commendation of the Horticultural Society of New York. These fine specimens are shipped in Cloverset pots.

AMAZING NEW GRASS STAYS GREEN UNDER SCORCHING SUMMER SUN

BUILDS A PERMANENT LAWN . . . LICKS CRAB GRASS . . . CHOKES WEEDS

Fabulous New MEYER Z-52 ZOYSIA

The famous hybrid grass developed after years of research sponsored by the U. S. Government Department of Agriculture.

- Can plant 3 times the area with these sprigs, as compared to plugs.
- Permanent . . . self-renewing—improves year by year.
- Plants like ivy, grows from bottom up . . .
- Stays green the year round in frost-free areas.
- Tough . . . both drought and disease-resistant.
- Requires less care . . . less mowing.

Meyer Z-52 Zoysia is a recently selected hybrid strain of a hardy Korean lawn grass. It was developed as a joint effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Golf Association Greens Section. It was tested and released as a superior turf grass by these agencies. It has only been commercially available since 1952. Meyer Z-52 Zoysia has been featured since 1953 in articles in Fortune, Kiplinger Magazine, National Geographic, Pageant, Garden Journal, Scientific Monthly, Newsweek and Popular Gardening. Arthur Godfrey extolled its virtues on one of his TV programs in April, 1954.

Being a hybrid, Meyer Z-52 Zoysia cannot be grown from seed, but must be propagated by planting plugs or sprigs. This grass forms a firm, resilient turf that is resistant to drought, disease and insects. It needs little watering after once established, requires less mowing and will grow in a wide variety of soils; thrives in hot, dry weather when other grasses cannot survive.

Since it is sun-loving, it is not recommended for use in the shade. Meyer Z-52 Zoysia improves with age, can withstand heavy wear and tear the year around and never needs replacing. It crowds out summer weeds and crab grass.

In areas of frost-free weather Meyer Z-52 Zoysia is evergreen. In other localities, it will brown out after the second or third hard frost and remain a thick brown carpet until spring weather starts growth again. This has not proven to be a handicap, since the turf is a lush green during the scorching summer months when a lawn is appreciated most.

RATES OF COVERAGE: Meyer Z-52 Zoysia sprigs, planted 8 inches apart, in bare soil should cover in one year. As much as two growing seasons are required for coverage where it is set into an existing lawn. The sprigs will cover very much faster if competing grass and weeds are pulled from the area immediately around them. Otherwise, Meyer Z-52 Zoysia sends its stolons underground and may seem to be lost in your lawn at the end of the first year, thus eliminating the fascination of watching the growth from week to week. Frequent light feedings and above average watering hasten coverage the first year.

YOUR OWN NURSERY: With a very small investment and a little patience, you can rebuild your entire lawn by establishing your own "nursery" in it. An initial order for $10.00 worth of bare-root runners contain about 300 "planting pieces" when cut into 3-inch sprigs. Set 8 inches apart, these will plant an area of 125 square feet. When this area is covered, you can transplant sprigs from it to other parts of your lawn. Your original investment of $10.00 will have increased to $625.00 worth of planting material—sufficient to sprig out an area of over 7,500 square feet.

Starting Package, $10.00.

Without exception there has been no garden flower which has been so thoroughly improved in the past decade, nor has any flower made such gains in popularity. It is not unusual to find varieties today with blooming spikes averaging well over 30 inches with individual florets measuring up to 6 inches in diameter. In addition to the increase in size, color developments have been made, combining practically every color known to man.

Our bulbs are plump, high-crowned, guaranteed No. 1 size, and are thrip treated with DDT and thrip free.

NOTES ON GLADIOLUS CULTURE

Gladiolus bulbs can be planted in the latitude of New York City from April 15th to July 10th. If successive flowering is desired, recommend plantings at two-week intervals.

Gladiolus do best in a good garden soil with a sunny location. For largest flowers it is well to use a general purpose fertilizer before planting and again as a side dressing when the plants are 12 to 15 inches high. Plant bulbs at a depth of four to six inches.

For exhibition spikes it is necessary to provide water during periods of drought, soaking the ground to a depth of 4 to 5 inches once a week.

When cutting Gladiolus spikes, allow the two outside leaves to remain on the plant to provide food for next year's bulbs.

Gladiolus have only one serious pest, thrips. Bulbs, when you get them from us, have all been dusted with DDT, and are free of thrips. To prevent injury from this insect, we recommend spraying or dusting with a garden preparation containing at least 10% DDT. This should be done every week to 10 days.

Hardy Water Lilies can be set any time from May 1st until the end of August, but tender Lilies not before June. Order early.

A simple way to plant Water Lilies is on rich soil in boxes 2 feet square and 1 foot deep. Cow manure is the best fertilizer but commercial fertilizers can be used. SEEDS of HARDY FLOWERS PERENNIALS AND BIENNIALS

HOW TO GROW THEM. Hardy plants (perennials) bloom the second year from seed and are permanent thereafter. Some of them may bloom the first year if the seed is sown very early. Among the perennials we find some of the most beautiful flowers for cutting and many of the old-fashioned sorts dear to our childhood memories. A hardy border properly planned and planted is a source of joy from early spring to late autumn; during that period it will be resplendent with color and yield an abundance of bloom for indoor decoration. The plants need little attention other than to be kept free from weeds and given an occasional top-dressing of plant food.

WHEN TO SOW. Seed may be sown in hotbed in February or March, or out-of-doors from the first days of May to mid-August. It is well to sow as early as possible, thus permitting the plants to become strong and well established before winter.

WHERE TO SOW. For most perennials a cold frame is an ideal place for starting seeds, but if you do not have one, make a seed-bed of finely sifted light soil, adding and mixing thoroughly well-decayed manure, humus, or prepared plant food. Sow the seed in shallow drills, covering $\frac{1}{2}$ inch or more, according to the size of the seed, but very fine seed should only be lightly pressed into the soil.

CARE OF SEEDS AFTER SOWING. Press down the bed with a flat board, and water gently but thoroughly with a fine spray. Do not permit the soil to become dry while the seed is in process of germination, for until the plant develops roots its life depends entirely on moisture. Nearly all failures in growing perennials may be attributed to drying in the seed-bed, which should be carefully watched and watered until the plants have made four to five leaves.

MINIATURE ROSES

These petite yet sturdy Roses make fairyland a reality. The wee green buds expand into lovely little blooms of thumb-nail size. They are intriguing little plants, 6 to 8 inches tall, with tiny rich green leaves. A half dozen plants will provide a continuous supply of flowers from May until frost for miniature arrangements. Plant them around a pool, in the rock garden, as a narrow border for Rose beds. Fine, too, for window and porch boxes. Care for them as you would Hybrid Teas. All are sturdy, 3-inch pot plants.

PIXIE. (Pat. No. 408.) White.

It is our wish that we would have sufficient space to list all of the testimonials that we have received in praise of this marvelous seed value. We have received reports from all sections of the country extolling the beauty and practical results obtained from sowing this mixture. Carefully blended to strike a perfect balance between the showy bright annuals and those of more subdued tendencies, the result provides a bold effect where required and a vista of real beauty covering large areas where it would be impossible to intensely cultivate a garden. Left to themselves, the vigorous hardy annuals in this mixture self-sow and it can be safely said that a wild garden produced from this seed will be more or less permanent.

Tips on Snapdragon Culture

Antirrhinum (Snapdragon) seed should be started in flats early in the spring. Care should be taken not to plant the seed too deeply, or to over-water. When plants are large enough to handle, they can be pricked off into $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch pots and hardened in the cold frame for later transplanting.

Seeds may also be sown directly in the open soil and then thinned out, leaving seedlings about a foot apart.

Snapdragons are a hardy annual and excellent results may be obtained by fall sowing.

Magnificent Petunias

No flower is so popular as the Petunia. They have captivated the hearts of all gardeners, amateur and professional, and have supplanted a great many of the old favorites such as Geraniums, Salvias, Vincas, etc., as bedding and window box plants.

Only lately have Petunias been recognized as splendid cut flowers. They are so prolific that proper culture requires frequent trimming of the plants so that cutting the blooms not only provides a splendid source of cut flowers, but aids the general growth of the plant as well. Petunias are impartial. They will grow anywhere, in semi-shade or in hot, dry sunny locations. The list as represented below embraces the finest selection of Petunia varieties that have been tested for their beauty, prolific bloom, and excellent growing habits.

Culture: Beans grow well in any good garden soil. Usually the first planting can be made the last week in April, followed by successive plantings about 2 weeks apart until August 15. Open a drill 2 inches deep and drop the Beans 1 inch apart and cover. When well up, draw the soil up against the plants and cultivate frequently. Do not cultivate them when the dew is on the plants as this frequently causes rust. One pound of seed is sufficient for 50 feet of drill.

Tendergreen. Round, dark green, stringless and tender. (50 days.)

Beans—Bush, Wax

Bush Limas are nearly 2 weeks earlier than Pole Limas. The seed is quite tender, and will rot while the ground is cold or wet, so do not plant before the ground is warm. For best results, however, the seed can be started in pots in a hotbed or in the greenhouse, and the plants set out when the weather is settled. Plant in rows 3 feet apart in the row, always edgewise, with the eye down.

Baby Potato. Most outstanding Bush Lima to date. Exquisite flavor and prolific production. Matures in 72 days.

Fordhook. Best for the home garden, very productive and of fine flavor. Large, round and plump, of rich buttery flavor. (71 days.)

Leviathan Extra Early. Earliest Pole Lima. Pods 5 to 6 inches long with Beans of delicious flavor. Extra prolific.
